

A COMMITMENT TO WHAT IS BEFORE YOU

ALEXANDRE PÉPIN
DON YA STOCKTON
RYAN McKERLEY

January 15–February 19, 2022

...

Northern–Southern

Downtown Austin
E. 5th Street between Brazos and San Jacinto

northern-southern.com
@northernsouthern

WHAT A Commitment to What is Before You is a joyful quiet, a call to look, feel, move, breath and be.

Paintings by Alexandre Pépin play silent games. The oils are both light and earthy, like the touch of tall grass on naked skin.

Baskets by Donya Stockton hold tautologies, each a woven impossibility, a wicker sculpture.

Ceramics by Ryan McKerley are marked with lines and shapes that mimic the effects of erosion. only possible with the technique of water carving.

WHEN January 15–February 19, 2022

Visiting Hours:
Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday
2-6pm

WHERE Northern-Southern
Downtown Austin, off 5th Street, halfway between San Jacinto and Brazos.
Look for the ← N or the ← S sign.

mailing address: 411 Brazos #105, Austin 78701

IMAGES <http://dl.northern-southern.com/2022/n-s-46-images.zip>

WEB northern-southern.com

instagram @northernsouthern

WHO Donya Stockton – weaving
Alexandre Pépin – painting
Ryan McKerley – ceramics

organized by Phillip Niemeyer

Alexandre Pépin

French-canadian, Pépin was born in Montréal, Canada. He is currently completing an MFA in Studio Arts at the University of Texas at Austin, and holds a bachelor's degree in Studio Arts from Concordia University in Montréal (2016). He invests the medium of oil painting to represent different states of organic matter, aiming to express notions of interconnectedness, impermanence, solace and equanimity amidst the chaos and suffering of ordinary life. His work was recently published in the journals Esse Arts + Opinions (Spring / Summer 2021) and New American Painting (Issue 156, 2021). This is his first showing at Northern-Southern.

Alexandre Pépin

Walking the Dog, 2021

oil on canvas

11x14 inches

photo by Alexander Boeschstein (@broot_al)

Alexandre Pépin

An Occasional Flood is no Catastrophe (working title), 2021

oil on wood panel 18x24 inches

photo by Alexander Boeschenstein (@broot_al)

Alexandre Pépin

Reclined figure in landscape with Eukaryote (working title), 2021

oil and pastel on wood panel

18x24 inches

photo by Alexander Boeschstein (@broot_al)

Donya Stockton

Born in Moore, Oklahoma in 1972, Stockton has been weaving baskets for more than twenty-five years. Her roots lie in traditional forms, especially basket forms of the indigenous people of the United States. But, her work has become more experimental with sculptural, organic forms. Using wicker, cane, and vine, these abstract forms are open to interpretation by the viewer. While they may not be purely considered baskets, these pieces could hardly be considered otherwise. They simultaneously test the limits of the medium and push the limits of people's expectations of basket weaving. She has shown with Northern-Southern multiple times: INVITATION (2016), CARRY-ONS at Austin Bergstrom International Airport (2017), and the WHY-ANNUAL (2018).

Donya Stockton

Basket #6, 2021

wicker

12x10x6 inches

Donya Stockton
Basket #6, 2021
wicker
12x10x6 inches

Ryan McKerley

McKerley began to make pots while studying art at Abilene Christian University. He moved to Austin in 1995 to apprentice with esteemed clay artist Billy Ray Mangham. McKerley developed his own style: minimal, controlled erosions using a process called water carving. He teaches, adults and children, and builds kilns. He is a mentor to many of the artists and designers working in ceramics in Austin, Texas. This is his first showing at Northern-Southern.

Ryan McKerley
2021
water carved cup

Ryan McKerley
2021
water carved cup